

protect consumers by promoting the improvement and standard of financial products, financial advice and intermediary services.

“With the combination of both the FIA’s Code of Ethics and the new Code of Conduct, we can provide clients with the peace of mind that they are dealing with competent and reputable financial advisers who have their best interests at heart.”